

Can You Say Fast: Remote Rural Resort?

THE REAL QUESTION

Just ask yourself "Even that I operate my business in the remote, rural environment, do I still have the connection to the world?"

Your answer:

- a) What connection?
- b) No, I do not need anybody!
- c) Sure, I have a phone... right?

IF YOU HAVE ANSWERED:

- a) Maybe it would be easier for the city people to deal with you if you actually had an email address. Just a thought. Call us. We can help.
- b) Please, try again. This time, take reality into account.
- c) Correct, but not exactly.

If you have answered c), then you are among the number of small business operators across the country that depend on the telephone as only means of communication. That's not bad when you compare it to the life without telephone. But on the other hand, internet and email have become a de facto standard for the time we live in. Move with the times and gain the competitive advantage for your business. Provide the service that is becoming to be expected as the norm. Connect to the world. How can you accomplish that for your "Remote Rural Resort" ?
